You can buy the whole book with all 24 walks for full price, or just buy an individual walk as a taster or because there is one walk which is of particular interest. Each individual walk includes the original map showing all of the walks available as well as the introduction and the authors advice for walkers.

WALK 14

Knole House and Jack Cade's revolt 1450

Distance: 6 miles

Map: OS sheet 188

Start and Parking:The walk starts at the main gates to Knole Park (grid ref: 534543), located at the southern end of Sevenoaks High Street and clearly signposted from the town. There is ample parking in Sevenoaks itself, both in car parks and on the road.

Refreshments:Shops, pubs and tearooms in Sevenoaks; tearoom at Knole House when open; pub at Godden Green.

Walks Through History: Kent is a celebration of the beauty and poetry of the county. Each walk in this book has been chosen not only because it is a pleasant walk in its own right, but also because it goes past sites which reveal the rich and varied history of the county.

Each walk is arranged chronologically, and has a major historical theme. Together they take the walker through 4,000 years of Kentish history. The introduction shows how each of the walks fits into the overall history of the county, a history that is very much shaped by Kent's proximity to Europe. For through migration, trade and invasion, Kent has had close contact with the continent throughout its history. As with all walking books detailed directions are given, including parking convenient stopping or resting places, and suggested diversions or alternatives.

The book is sure to appeal to locals and tourist alike.

About the author:

John Wilks has been a professional historical guide and a history teacher, and is a branch secretary of the Historical Association. He is also an enthusiastic member of the Rambler's Association and has written a number of walking books with historical themes.
