American Zebras, American Tigers: 21 Powerful Rules Of Success. For Immigrants, And Not Only. (Volume 1) I M Lucian Caprau

The fundamental rules of success described in this powerful self-improvement book have their genesis in a series of seminars and trainings the author developed over the years for a limited number of high end corporate clients. Reigniting the conqueror spark in his audiences, Lucian Caprau created success even during tough economic times. He is a firm believer in the concept of personal economy; a concept that he thinks we all must embrace in order to achieve definitive abundance. Having lived in, or visited over two dozen countries, and going from absolute zero to abundance in different social and cultural environments, the author is the ultimate authority in immigrant success. Being passionate about human psychology of achievement and failure, he observed, learned and adopted over more than two decades the habits which lead to building great success, and identified and studied the behaviors of failures, warning his students of their dangers. Listening to many students, friends and family who told him that millions could reap great benefits from his teachings and amazing true stories, Lucian Caprau created this straight forward, stories-rich, politically incorrect book, which effectively helps readers who apply the principles described within, achieve success in their lives and businesses. The next volume in the series “American Zebras, American Tigers” called “Bridges to Financial Freedom” will teach readers, immigrants or not, different proven ways of creating a prosperous personal economy in United States.
