FAR FROM HOME (Book Three)

Betty is the youngest girl in the family. She is most comfortable behind the scenes and used to living in the shadow of her older sister Naomi's extroverted personality.

She never imagined her sister's expected match, the handsome and popular Jonas, would be interested in her.

But throughout the day of the wedding, Jonas flirts intensely and hardly leaves her side, making her feel important, attractive and special. After returning to Ohio, Jonas and Betty stay in touch for a year, exchanging beautiful letters and promises.

But when Betty has the opportunity to travel to Ohio and surprise Jonas, she is shocked and devastated when she meets a young woman who introduces herself as Jonas' intended, and speaks of how happy they are together.

Could Jonas truly be betrothed to another?

How could Betty ever trust him again after being so betrayed?

Can Jonas find a way to make it up to her and show Betty that she is indeed that one God has chosen for him, and the one to whom his heart belongs?
